The program seeks to encourage gentle, but firm, discipline without arguing, yelling, or spanking.

What are the principles of 1-2-3 Magic? A key element of 1-2-3 Magic is the “no talking, no emotion” rule. This means that when you are using counting as discipline, you do not talk, explain, or rationalize with your child, and you do not get angry or otherwise emotional during or after.

What age is 1-2-3 Magic for? 1-2-3 Magic is also incredibly versatile. It is appropriate to use with kids ages two to twelve, applies to neurotypical kids as well as kids with ADHD, learning disabilities, and other challenges, and is available in Spanish and other languages.

What are the benefits of 1-2-3 Magic? 1-2-3 gives the parent an always ready emergency procedure to implement. Knowing what to do also makes it less likely that the parent will act inconsistently with discipline. Because misbehavior triggers 1-2-3, the parent is also less likely to ignore an infraction in one instance, or overreact in another.

What is the 1-2-3 method? The 1-2-3 method: identifying one priority project that you want to invest the early hours of the day to. Two essential but urgent tasks that you want to complete next, and then three items of maintenance that will help your life to run smoothly and as effortlessly as possible.

The first part of the 1-2-3 Magic Method entails a counting strategy both to control your response to your kids' behavior and to train your kids to redirect when they misbehave. What is the difference between positive discipline and 1-2-3 Magic? 1-2-3 Magic is more assertive when it comes to dealing with obnoxious or difficult behavior. Positive discipline will talk about "replacement behaviors." That's fine, but it also talks about what "need" is being met by the child's misbehavior.
